So the idea of this project was born. And today on this site you can find a huge amount of materials, development of lessons, notes, plans, class hours, scenarios of Valentine's Day at school and school holidays not only for novice teachers, but also for the school psychologist, head teacher for educational and educational work, class teacher, school Director! I hope that this Internet project, at least a little help You in the hard work of the teacher.

Can You write my essay today?

All pages of this site were created and created manually, without the use of all kinds of "page generators" and optimized carefully to speed up the download, reduce traffic. What for? Yes, because so far many teachers "go" to the Internet using modems and themselves, with their very modest salaries, pay the cost of the Internet. Therefore, on this site You will not find a "stunning" design, lots of graphics, etc. Here is only information, if possible, even devoid of pictures and photos. In order to download presentations, materials, abstracts, You do not have to wait for hours to download from file servers with multiple ads! All documents are on my server and are downloaded very quickly. Unfortunately, it is not possible to do without advertising banners, but it is - the fee for the existence of the site. With this money I pay the cost of a dedicated server that runs this site.

The materials that You will find here are partly mine and my former colleagues, partly sent by friends of the site, as well as "grains" collected on the Internet. I will be very grateful to all teachers who will send their developments: time and thematic planning, methodological developments, lesson notes, presentations on mathematics, algebra, geometry, computer science, physics, chemistry, biology, astronomy, geography and literature, English language, labor education, history, life, physical education, music, fine arts and other subjects, school holiday scenarios - February 14, Valentine's Day, class hours and everything that can help teacher in daily work. Let's help each other together! At the same time, all the plans, summaries, scripts, development, presentations posted on this site, You can download for free and without registration! I promise You that all materials of this site were, are and will be completely free! My conscience does not allow me to take money from teachers who are now living very hard. They with their modest wages are forced to pay for Internet traffic, they are for personal funds to buy the workbooks and school textbooks! I adore my teachers! If, after reading all this, You want to send your methodological developments, plans, lesson notes, scripts - send them to the e-mail specified on the authors page.
